

THE VICTORIA REGIA.

(From the Metropolitan Gossip of the Liverpool Advertiser, December 16.)

An item of Court news unrecorded in the Circular, but noted with exclamatory admiration by other chroniclers, is the royal reception accorded to the Victoria Regia; not the flower so-called, though yet having a flower, but the handiwork of the "Faithful and True," the name of which has particularly handed down to us the woman's well-known printing office, in Coram-street, Russell-square. The volume is avowedly a business one, produced expressly to show what excellent typographers female are capable of becoming, and what a field for feminine industry is consequently opened in a pursuit hitherto supposed to be among the exclusive properties of man. It answers its end, and amply; and that is a prime beginning. The title is a very happy one, and very happily expressed, in a dedicatory sonnet of singular strength and simplicity, by Miss Jessie Parkes, the main prop of the whole movement, if a movement can be said to have a prop, any more than a man can "take his stand upon a prop." It is rather uncomfitting to find Miss Jessie Parkes, as already mentioned, more than once (but it won't be amiss to hit the nail on the head again), is daughter of the well known Mr. Joseph Parkes who, with the late Mr. Eliot Harvey and the present Mr. W. Rathbone, mainly made Liverpool the municipality it is. He is one of the two saluted to by Mr. Lathom, Mr. Parker, and Mr. Clegg, with complicity in the lugubrious sacrifice for marching Tom Atwood's Midland million upon the metropolis, and so carrying the bill in spite of William R., asked, was it likely that a Peninsular soldier would join in Birmingham attorney and a London tailor in making war upon Wellington? When he saw the Whigs begin to go to bedition, he sought out a place where he could sit up, and be master in charge of which he still remains. But he retains all his early ardour in behalf of the masses, eager for their social, as an auxiliary to their political, elevation; and in the former particular he finds a zealous and discreet assistant in the lady who, in behalf of her own sex, so worthily applies the philanthropic principles adopted by her sire towards us.

The pit, and it is all pit, of Miss Parkes' verses, in the instance adduced, is a combination of practicality and the painful watershed, following contraries, among the most painful watershed, that either comes up, though these include the Laureat, and Miss Parkes' protege, Mrs. Craig, whose Crystal Palace Pride & Prejudice was thought to exhibit with the true pathos fire, a promised subsequent performance has thrown a damp upon. Next to Miss Parkes, most ardent is exhibited by Sir F. Doyle, Receiver-General of Customs, a calling much suited, one would suppose, to the author of Customs and Excise—more than of Helicon; but he spiritedly embodies a story told him, with sympathetic knightly fervour, by the Bearded Vision that swept Scinde—showing how certain of the heroic Hill Men bestowed their badge of chivalry, the "Red Thread of Horon," on the sons of eleven Englishmen, who, through their treacherousness, had sold their country, and with the most unsatisfactory results to the prisoners themselves. Should these letters contain any startling revelations, or express any heterodox opinions on the present system of "concerning" our dishonest paupers; should I venture to assert that the prison chaplains are imposed upon by pseudocoverts in the majority of cases; that the convict prisons are not at all becoming; that the contract palaces, that weak-minded Christian women are beginning to find gool-mobs more interesting than the honest paupers of the Union; and that the whole system, as conducted at the present time, is simply a temptation to crime, an encouragement of criminals, a pandering to the most materialistic form of religion, and a scandal to the cause of pauper money? I suppose that such conclusions these I will only ask your readers to consider whether my facts and figures would not justify me in their distinct assertion.

Upon them let us enter without delay. Reticulating this country in its length and breadth, like the rail-lines on a Bradshaw's map, we have a crime-machinery of a most extraordinary character. A police force of 20,567 men night and day keep watch and ward over our paupers, and paupers! As we while they are a fine crew, prompt, active, obliging, and generally faithful; by no means overpaid, who constitute the body-guard of her Majesty's liege subjects. To keep up this force we paid last year the fabulous sum of two millions, twelve hundred and twenty-five thousand, five hundred and nineteen pounds, for their salaries alone, an amount to tax or lay a charge on their discharge, with allowances for their clothing and travelling, which average," says Mr. Redgrave, "about £20,000 in addition."

Then we have scattered over the country eighty-six county, four liberty, and sixty-five borough prisons; and these, with their numerous branches, under their shorter terms of imprisonment, and their associated with 2263 officers of various grades, whose united salaries amount to an annual sum of £45,747 6s. 7d.

In addition to this, to all these fenses, all that "fine array," we have 10 huge convict prisons, where men and women sentenced to three years up to penal servitude for life, are superintended by 1188 officers, at an annual cost of £247,100. To these startling figures we must add the sum of £28,870, paid by her Majesty's Treasury for the relief of several Smiths and the progeny of diverse Browns and Robinsons, at the other end of the earth, some perplexing problem is apt to arise as to which is the best way to pay the bill, or the blood-sucker from the vise of Aldgate. You never hear of this is perhaps putting too fine a point on the matter so soon after Yell's Arrow, which settled all quavers, and made a butt of moral maxims for the shafts of ridicule. An adept at the latter weapon, though he does not use them for such purposes, the black-ribbed, toothed, and scimitar-like, and with his pencil for her impulsive objects. He furnished to the Victoria Regia, a sort of Roundabout Paper, entitled, "A Leaf out of my Sketch Book." It reads exactly like a clipping—heads, tail-pieces, and all—from that everlasting, never-ending still-beginning literary tortoise-toed Deroof, "Philip on his horse, the world, and through which he makes no more noise than a squirrel at the close of a day's run round his cage, having got farther at nightfall than he was at daybreak, but none the less entertaining to look at, for all that, mayhap. Much the same may be said of the effusions of three of the eternal Trollops, two male and one female—Adolphus, with an Indian terrestrial sketch, Anthony with a Pacific Ocean ditto, and Theodore with a "Troll" of his own. These three did not say writing, exemplifying the adage about hard reading; and such, it must be added, the bulk o' the volume is made up, therein also exemplifying a further adage, that writing which is written for nothing is generally of the value of nothing. For instance, if Lord Castile expected three-halfpence for his "true stories," and the like, he might as well send such trash as that three times as so inscribed; and considering that the noble Earl's countenance, according to H. B., is capable of that, is no trifle. A like remark is applicable to the donations of Monkton Miles, who has woefully fallen into the snare and yellow leaf since the palmy days of his "Puff-Puffs." Leaves—So with numerous others, though they be among the highest, or at least first of a numerous class, such as Dean Milman, Harry Cornwall (father of the editor), and Procter, who has made the most of her materials.) Theodore Marlin, the Rev. D. F. Maurice, (who reprints a Mechanics' Institute lecture on Criticism) Tom Taylor, Coventry Patmore, Edwin Arnold, and several others between whom there seems to have been a sort of tacit sympathy, and mutual assent to whom could do worse. Probably the most enterprising performance, and most conscientious in every thing she does, as witness Harriet's hammering of the member for Birmingham in one of this week's periodicals on Demagogues, is Miss Marianne's "Birth of a Free Nation;" being apparently an unusual rhapsody pertaining to her native land, and the man, with date now set, to whom she is giving birth. The Last of the Barons' Friendship's Offering. Keepe Annuals are over; and since the dramatic donation of "Not so bad as His Seems," he has done nothing in the gratitudinous voice-line—a circumstance hardly to be wondered at, as all his tragic pieces must have made to themselves wings long ago, and converted into those gold-winged notes which that tame hawk, the Times, has put together, to wit, the Old Lady of Thunderside street, loves so well, and to whose steering melody the lord of Knabworth is singularly sensitive for a Times; New Timon, that is, of the Marble Arch, Edgeware Road, rather than the Acropolis in the Minerva metropolis. But Sir Edward's son figures as an offshoot of Hellenic outpouring, not particularly Hellenic, despite the epic title, called "Helen Hypocrisies," and signed by the now familiar pseudonym, Owen Maesid. The cynic appellation, wherein the juvenile bard rejoices, probably on account of paternal "King Arthur" antecedents, may suggest to some imaginative readers the vision of a young druid in Ancient Britain casting his harp on the captivating animal magnetism of Welsh habitus, or hynion, the garlic glories of his onion-crowned helmet, David, in the style of a victor, at a thousand Reddiwicks, or whatever is the accurate orthography of those unpronounceable competitive ceter-wangs. Very different, however, is the youth in the face, from the apportionment in the mind's eye. He is a slight, pale, somewhat emaciated son of the quondam paternal "Pallans," wife, indeed, the original "Pallans" still, with surprisingly trivial allusion to the wear and tear of the thirty-three years that have elapsed since the sensational "Adventures of a Gentleman" divided attention with the equally emotional adventures of "Vivian Grey."

But, lively writing or dull, or that dullest of all drosses, the deadly-dull, looks equally well in print; and as printing is the point principally aimed at, why not an attractive name is blazoned in fine type, and on hot-pressed, cold-toned paper, and bound beneath a glittering gold cover, and the crown outside symbolizing the V.R., the approval of the Victoria Regia as an effervescent flower of fruitfulness, it signifies little what matter is appended to the name.

OUR CONVICT SYSTEM.

I am about to solicit your readers' attention to a very ugly, but a very important subject. All Blue Books are dry in reading, and difficult in digestion; but Blue Books on "Prisons, Reformatories, and Judicial Statistics" are more than commonly so. Having however been compelled to make them of late a special study, and having also recently visited a collection of leaves the handiwork of the "Faithful and True," and has particularly handled, the woman's well-known printing office, in Coram-street, Russell-square. The volume is avowedly a business one, produced expressly to show what excellent typographers female are capable of becoming, and what a field for feminine industry is consequently opened in a pursuit hitherto supposed to be among the exclusive properties of man. It answers its end, and amply; and that is a prime beginning. The title is a very happy one, and very happily expressed, in a dedicatory sonnet of singular strength and simplicity, by Miss Jessie Parkes, the main prop of the whole movement, if a movement can be said to have a prop, any more than a man can "take his stand upon a prop."

Jack, too, has a marvellous propensity for picking things to pieces, and smacking articles that come in his way; strange to say, he never touches a piece of paper, nor a book, or a newspaper, or valances, hit of taste. Dull and dreary, if you like, but by no means worn out; scarcely touched upon, in fact, and very little understood by religious people in particular, to whom I direct my few plain words on this subject. Convict service! Convict discipline! Bah! a worn-out, dull, dreary, hopeless tale. Dull and dreary, if you like, but by no means worn out; scarcely touched upon, in fact, and very little understood by religious people in particular, to whom I direct my few plain words on this subject.

Jack, too, has a marvellous propensity for picking things to pieces, and smacking articles that come in his way; strange to say, he never touches a piece of paper, nor a book, or a newspaper, or valances, hit of taste. Dull and dreary, if you like, but by no means worn out; scarcely touched upon, in fact, and very little understood by religious people in particular, to whom I direct my few plain words on this subject.

Jack, too, has a marvellous propensity for picking things to pieces, and smacking articles that come in his way; strange to say, he never touches a piece of paper, nor a book, or a newspaper, or valances, hit of taste. Dull and dreary, if you like, but by no means worn out; scarcely touched upon, in fact, and very little understood by religious people in particular, to whom I direct my few plain words on this subject.

Jack, too, has a marvellous propensity for picking things to pieces, and smacking articles that come in his way; strange to say, he never touches a piece of paper, nor a book, or a newspaper, or valances, hit of taste. Dull and dreary, if you like, but by no means worn out; scarcely touched upon, in fact, and very little understood by religious people in particular, to whom I direct my few plain words on this subject.

Jack, too, has a marvellous propensity for picking things to pieces, and smacking articles that come in his way; strange to say, he never touches a piece of paper, nor a book, or a newspaper, or valances, hit of taste. Dull and dreary, if you like, but by no means worn out; scarcely touched upon, in fact, and very little understood by religious people in particular, to whom I direct my few plain words on this subject.

Jack, too, has a marvellous propensity for picking things to pieces, and smacking articles that come in his way; strange to say, he never touches a piece of paper, nor a book, or a newspaper, or valances, hit of taste. Dull and dreary, if you like, but by no means worn out; scarcely touched upon, in fact, and very little understood by religious people in particular, to whom I direct my few plain words on this subject.

Jack, too, has a marvellous propensity for picking things to pieces, and smacking articles that come in his way; strange to say, he never touches a piece of paper, nor a book, or a newspaper, or valances, hit of taste. Dull and dreary, if you like, but by no means worn out; scarcely touched upon, in fact, and very little understood by religious people in particular, to whom I direct my few plain words on this subject.

Jack, too, has a marvellous propensity for picking things to pieces, and smacking articles that come in his way; strange to say, he never touches a piece of paper, nor a book, or a newspaper, or valances, hit of taste. Dull and dreary, if you like, but by no means worn out; scarcely touched upon, in fact, and very little understood by religious people in particular, to whom I direct my few plain words on this subject.

Jack, too, has a marvellous propensity for picking things to pieces, and smacking articles that come in his way; strange to say, he never touches a piece of paper, nor a book, or a newspaper, or valances, hit of taste. Dull and dreary, if you like, but by no means worn out; scarcely touched upon, in fact, and very little understood by religious people in particular, to whom I direct my few plain words on this subject.

Jack, too, has a marvellous propensity for picking things to pieces, and smacking articles that come in his way; strange to say, he never touches a piece of paper, nor a book, or a newspaper, or valances, hit of taste. Dull and dreary, if you like, but by no means worn out; scarcely touched upon, in fact, and very little understood by religious people in particular, to whom I direct my few plain words on this subject.

Jack, too, has a marvellous propensity for picking things to pieces, and smacking articles that come in his way; strange to say, he never touches a piece of paper, nor a book, or a newspaper, or valances, hit of taste. Dull and dreary, if you like, but by no means worn out; scarcely touched upon, in fact, and very little understood by religious people in particular, to whom I direct my few plain words on this subject.

Jack, too, has a marvellous propensity for picking things to pieces, and smacking articles that come in his way; strange to say, he never touches a piece of paper, nor a book, or a newspaper, or valances, hit of taste. Dull and dreary, if you like, but by no means worn out; scarcely touched upon, in fact, and very little understood by religious people in particular, to whom I direct my few plain words on this subject.

Jack, too, has a marvellous propensity for picking things to pieces, and smacking articles that come in his way; strange to say, he never touches a piece of paper, nor a book, or a newspaper, or valances, hit of taste. Dull and dreary, if you like, but by no means worn out; scarcely touched upon, in fact, and very little understood by religious people in particular, to whom I direct my few plain words on this subject.

Jack, too, has a marvellous propensity for picking things to pieces, and smacking articles that come in his way; strange to say, he never touches a piece of paper, nor a book, or a newspaper, or valances, hit of taste. Dull and dreary, if you like, but by no means worn out; scarcely touched upon, in fact, and very little understood by religious people in particular, to whom I direct my few plain words on this subject.

Jack, too, has a marvellous propensity for picking things to pieces, and smacking articles that come in his way; strange to say, he never touches a piece of paper, nor a book, or a newspaper, or valances, hit of taste. Dull and dreary, if you like, but by no means worn out; scarcely touched upon, in fact, and very little understood by religious people in particular, to whom I direct my few plain words on this subject.

Jack, too, has a marvellous propensity for picking things to pieces, and smacking articles that come in his way; strange to say, he never touches a piece of paper, nor a book, or a newspaper, or valances, hit of taste. Dull and dreary, if you like, but by no means worn out; scarcely touched upon, in fact, and very little understood by religious people in particular, to whom I direct my few plain words on this subject.

Jack, too, has a marvellous propensity for picking things to pieces, and smacking articles that come in his way; strange to say, he never touches a piece of paper, nor a book, or a newspaper, or valances, hit of taste. Dull and dreary, if you like, but by no means worn out; scarcely touched upon, in fact, and very little understood by religious people in particular, to whom I direct my few plain words on this subject.

Jack, too, has a marvellous propensity for picking things to pieces, and smacking articles that come in his way; strange to say, he never touches a piece of paper, nor a book, or a newspaper, or valances, hit of taste. Dull and dreary, if you like, but by no means worn out; scarcely touched upon, in fact, and very little understood by religious people in particular, to whom I direct my few plain words on this subject.

Jack, too, has a marvellous propensity for picking things to pieces, and smacking articles that come in his way; strange to say, he never touches a piece of paper, nor a book, or a newspaper, or valances, hit of taste. Dull and dreary, if you like, but by no means worn out; scarcely touched upon, in fact, and very little understood by religious people in particular, to whom I direct my few plain words on this subject.

Jack, too, has a marvellous propensity for picking things to pieces, and smacking articles that come in his way; strange to say, he never touches a piece of paper, nor a book, or a newspaper, or valances, hit of taste. Dull and dreary, if you like, but by no means worn out; scarcely touched upon, in fact, and very little understood by religious people in particular, to whom I direct my few plain words on this subject.

Jack, too, has a marvellous propensity for picking things to pieces, and smacking articles that come in his way; strange to say, he never touches a piece of paper, nor a book, or a newspaper, or valances, hit of taste. Dull and dreary, if you like, but by no means worn out; scarcely touched upon, in fact, and very little understood by religious people in particular, to whom I direct my few plain words on this subject.

Jack, too, has a marvellous propensity for picking things to pieces, and smacking articles that come in his way; strange to say, he never touches a piece of paper, nor a book, or a newspaper, or valances, hit of taste. Dull and dreary, if you like, but by no means worn out; scarcely touched upon, in fact, and very little understood by religious people in particular, to whom I direct my few plain words on this subject.

Jack, too, has a marvellous propensity for picking things to pieces, and smacking articles that come in his way; strange to say, he never touches a piece of paper, nor a book, or a newspaper, or valances, hit of taste. Dull and dreary, if you like, but by no means worn out; scarcely touched upon, in fact, and very little understood by religious people in particular, to whom I direct my few plain words on this subject.

Jack, too, has a marvellous propensity for picking things to pieces, and smacking articles that come in his way; strange to say, he never touches a piece of paper, nor a book, or a newspaper, or valances, hit of taste. Dull and dreary, if you like, but by no means worn out; scarcely touched upon, in fact, and very little understood by religious people in particular, to whom I direct my few plain words on this subject.

Jack, too, has a marvellous propensity for picking things to pieces, and smacking articles that come in his way; strange to say, he never touches a piece of paper, nor a book, or a newspaper, or valances, hit of taste. Dull and dreary, if you like, but by no means worn out; scarcely touched upon, in fact, and very little understood by religious people in particular, to whom I direct my few plain words on this subject.

Jack, too, has a marvellous propensity for picking things to pieces, and smacking articles that come in his way; strange to say, he never touches a piece of paper, nor a book, or a newspaper, or valances, hit of taste. Dull and dreary, if you like, but by no means worn out; scarcely touched upon, in fact, and very little understood by religious people in particular, to whom I direct my few plain words on this subject.

Jack, too, has a marvellous propensity for picking things to pieces, and smacking articles that come in his way; strange to say, he never touches a piece of paper, nor a book, or a newspaper, or valances, hit of taste. Dull and dreary, if you like, but by no means worn out; scarcely touched upon, in fact, and very little understood by religious people in particular, to whom I direct my few plain words on this subject.

Jack, too, has a marvellous propensity for picking things to pieces, and smacking articles that come in his way; strange to say, he never touches a piece of paper, nor a book, or a newspaper, or valances, hit of taste. Dull and dreary, if you like, but by no means worn out; scarcely touched upon, in fact, and very little understood by religious people in particular, to whom I direct my few plain words on this subject.

Jack, too, has a marvellous propensity for picking things to pieces, and smacking articles that come in his way; strange to say, he never touches a piece of paper, nor a book, or a newspaper, or valances, hit of taste. Dull and dreary, if you like, but by no means worn out; scarcely touched upon, in fact, and very little understood by religious people in particular, to whom I direct my few plain words on this subject.

Jack, too, has a marvellous propensity for picking things to pieces, and smacking articles that come in his way; strange to say, he never touches a piece of paper, nor a book, or a newspaper, or valances, hit of taste. Dull and dreary, if you like, but by no means worn out; scarcely touched upon, in fact, and very little understood by religious people in particular, to whom I direct my few plain words on this subject.

Jack, too, has a marvellous propensity for picking things to pieces, and smacking articles that come in his way; strange to say, he never touches a piece of paper, nor a book, or a newspaper, or valances, hit of taste. Dull and dreary, if you like, but by no means worn out; scarcely touched upon, in fact, and very little understood by religious people in particular, to whom I direct my few plain words on this subject.

Jack, too, has a marvellous propensity for picking things to pieces, and smacking articles that come in his way; strange to say, he never touches a piece of paper, nor a book, or a newspaper, or valances, hit of taste. Dull and dreary, if you like, but by no means worn out; scarcely touched upon, in fact, and very little understood by religious people in particular, to whom I direct my few plain words on this subject.

Jack, too, has a marvellous propensity for picking things to pieces, and smacking articles that come in his way; strange to say, he never touches a piece of paper, nor a book, or a newspaper, or valances, hit of taste. Dull and dreary, if you like, but by no means worn out; scarcely touched upon, in fact, and very little understood by religious people in particular, to whom I direct my few plain words on this subject.

Jack, too, has a marvellous propensity for picking things to pieces, and smacking articles that come in his way; strange to say, he never touches a piece of paper, nor a book, or a newspaper, or valances, hit of taste. Dull and dreary, if you like, but by no means worn out; scarcely touched upon, in fact, and very little understood by religious people in particular, to whom I direct my few plain words on this subject.

Jack, too, has

SYDNEY INSURANCE COMPANY.
The half-yearly general meeting of the shareholders of the Sydney Insurance Company was held yesterday, at their offices, at two o'clock.

Mr. Thomas Holt, M.L.A., took the chair.

The minutes of the advertisement convening the meeting and the minutes of the last half-yearly meeting, which were confirmed.

The CHAIRMAN called upon the Secretary to read the report.

The SECRETARY then read the following report and balance sheet.

THIRTEENTH HALF-YEARLY REPORT.

The directors have much pleasure in laying before the shareholders the following statement of the affairs of the company for the past half-year:

The balance remaining in the credit of Contingent Fund on the 30th September, 1861, was £12,036 9 9

Less dividend declared at 10 per cent, per annum, and bonus of one shilling per share

£3,750 0 0

The receipts for the past half-year

have been—

Premises

Interest on investments

£3,164 11 7

£2,014 17 7

£5,179 8 8

£16,466 15 5

The expenditure of the half-year has been as follows—

Fire and marine

£783 3 10

Fees, salaries, commissions, fire brigade, and other charges

2,677 11 10

Depreciation Account, buildings and furniture

713 12 10

£3,573 8 6

Leaving at the credit of Profit and Loss to be carried to the credit of the Contingent Fund, March 31, 1862

£14,892 9 11

Out of which the directors declare a dividend of ten per cent, per annum, and bonus of one shilling per share.

The amount of the dividend is £1,489 11 11. At the credit of the Contingent Fund.

There is an outstanding claim against the company amounting to £21,743 16 10.

The total amount at risk, on the 31st March, 1862, was £38,635,284, of which £3,164,244 were renewals, and £1,274,160 were new business. The amount of premium received in the year, 1861, was £2,046,857, which shows a decrease in the amount of risk of £315,445 during the half-year.

During the half-year, an accident occurred at the board, in consequence of the resignation of the Hon. S. D. Gordon, Esq., on his leaving the colony for England. In accordance with the power given by the shareholders, the directors selected Thomas W. Smart, Esq., to the vacant seat, he being a duly qualified shareholder, and considered by them eminent in his professional attainments. The Mutual Insurance Company, and his extensive local knowledge.

The dividends and bonus will be payable on and after Thursday, the 17th instant.

THOMAS HOLT, chairman.

PROFIT AND LOSS ACCOUNT of the Sydney Insurance Company for half-year ended 31st March, 1862.

To Premiums received by fire

£783 3 11

Expenses for advertising, salaries, fees, commissions, and petty charges

1,856 6 10

Interest on investments

713 12 10

Balance

14,892 9 11

£15,465 15 5

Cr.

By balance 31st September, 1861, less dividend declared

£3,595 9 9

Premiums received this half-year

8,164 11 7

Interest on investments

500 17 1

BALANCE

£15,465 15 5

BALANCE-SHEET of the Sydney Insurance Company, 31st March, 1862.

Dr.

To Premiums received by fire

£783 3 11

Expenses for advertising, salaries, fees, commissions, and petty charges

1,856 6 10

Interest on investments

713 12 10

BALANCE

£15,465 15 5

Cr.

By bank bills with interest due

£22,370 5 7

Offices ditto

1,000 10 0

Office furniture

300 0 0

Fire engines

772 12 0

Bank balance current account

2,014 17 7

£20,000 0 0

Contingent Fund

8,000 0 0

Balanc Cr. of profit and loss for half-year

165 12 0

Dividends unpaid

165 12 0

£15,465 15 5

We have examined the above balance-sheet, comparing it with the books, and find them to be correct.

E. R. KNOWNSON, } Auditors.
E. LOIZE.

Sydney, 11th April, 1862.

The CHAIRMAN said it was a pleasant duty a chairman had in the discharge of his functions to inform the shareholders that the directors had been unanimous in their adoption of a plan when it was favourable, and he believed the shareholders would agree with him in thinking the report which the directors presented very satisfactory. Their profits for the past half-year, after deducting all expenses, losses, and bonuses, amounted to £14,892 9 11, and were derived from the sale of various classes of property.

Mr. G. H. RAYNER said the directors had been unanimous in their adoption of the report.

Mr. G. H. RAYNER said the directors had been unanimous in their adoption of the report.

The motion was put and carried unanimously.

A vote of thanks was awarded to the Chairman and directors, and the meeting separated.

VALUATION OF THE PROPERTY.—On the evening of Wednesday the 2nd instant the Rev. W. Curzon, of the Wesleyan denomination, Ipswich, was on the eve of his departure for Sydney, after labouring in Queensland for some years, invited to a valedictory tea meeting at West Sydney. There was a large concourse of members of the various denominations present. The tea-table, the exterior of which was ornamented with evergreens, and over the pulpit was the text—"My presence shall go with you." The tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, and the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

After the tea-table had been covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground, the tea-table was covered with flowers and leaves, upon a white ground.

The Treasury, New South Wales,
14th April 1862.

GOVERNMENT PILOT VESSEL, SEA WITCH.
TENDERS.—Will be received at this office, until noon on THURSDAY, April 20th, for fitting up the Government pilot vessel, Sea Witch, in accordance with a drawing and specification to be seen at the office of the Pilot Board.

Tenders to be marked outside, "Tender for fitting up pilot vessel."

E. C. WEEKES.
The Treasury, New South Wales,
7th April, 1862.

TO TAILORS, HATTERS, AND OUTFITTERS.—TENDERS will be received at the General Post Office, until noon on WEDNESDAY, 23rd instant, from parties willing to contract with the Post Office for making up the above articles, to be ready for delivery on or before the 1st of May next. To make (36) thirty-six hats, each of scarlet cloth—the department allows all the materials. 2nd—To supply (31) thirty-one silk hats and (3) three caps.

Tenders must forward samples with their tenders. The costs must be finished one month after the cloth is handed to tender.

All the articles will be subject to the approval of the Postmaster-General.

E. C. WEEKES.
The Treasury, New South Wales,
20th March, 1862.

CONVEYANCE OF MAIL-PIECES.—All being required for the POST OFFICE MAIL, and to the undermentioned places for seven months, or one year and seven months, from the 1st June, 1862, persons who are desirous to CONTRACT for providing the same, are invited to do so, in writing, to the General Post Office, before 12 o'clock on Wednesday, the 30th day of April next, endorsed "Tender for Conveyance of Mails."

1.—To and from Bradfield and Arden, once a week.
2.—To and from Yass and Tumut, via Limestone Creek, Kangaroos and Lang's Creek, once a week.

3.—To and from Corowa and Waginay, six days a week.

NORTHERN ROAD.
Medical Referee.—Dr. O'Brien, M.R.C.S.

Prospective tables of rates, and forms of proposal, with the fullest information, will be furnished on application to LAHEY, IRELAND, and CO., agents Lloyd's of London, George-street.

The rates will be the same as those published in the notice of the 14th September last, and tenders will be considered unless in accordance therewith.

E. C. WEEKES.
The Treasury, New South Wales,
26th March, 1862.

HIS Excellency the Governor-in-Chief directs the publication of the following Notice, relative to Port Stephens' Lighthouse, from which a light will be exhibited from sunset to sunrise, on and after the 1st May next.

E. C. WEEKES.

PORT STEPHENS' LIGHT.

Two Light-houses are erected, one white, tower, 100 feet, is 60 feet high to the centre of the lantern, and will have a knell 66 feet above the level of the sea; the light will consequently be 126 feet above that level, and will be seen in clear weather from a ship's deck, at a distance of about 17 miles; will carry a white flame and red light alternately every minute.

The lighthouse is situated in latitude 32 degrees 44 minutes 37 seconds S., longitude 152 degrees 13 minutes E., and from which Morse Point bears south 56 degrees W.; east of Broughton Island, 10 miles N.E.; Little Island N.E., 26 degrees E.; Broughton (10 miles) N.E. 22 degrees E.; centre of Cabaragoo Island N.E., 12 degrees E.; Yaabba Head Peak N. 8 degrees W.; South Head Peak or Toomera N. 29 degrees W.

The lighthouses will be visible seaward from all points of an arc of 193 degrees.

The knoll on which the lighthouses is erected should not be approached within one mile when rounding the light.

Department of Public Works,
Sydney, 14th April, 1862.

TENDERS FOR PUBLIC WORKS SUPPLIES.—TENDERS are invited for the following Public Works and Supplies. For full particulars see Government Gazette, a copy of which is kept at every police office in the colony.

No tender will be taken into consideration unless the name of the work for which it is intended be written on the tender.

E. C. WEEKES.

Nature of Works and Supplies.—Date to which Tenders can be received at this Office.

Supply of Screw Moorings and Buoys for the Harbour of Newcastle.

Bird-nest Additions to Watch-house, Tawonga.

Supplying and Spreading Metal on Great Western Road, between Sydney and Campbelltown.

Supply of Iron Roy Dock Works.—Ives and Brass Castings.

Hardware store.

Oldmen's ditto.

Timber.

Extension of G. N. Railway, from East Maitland to Morphett.

Extension of Passenger Station, at Penrith.

Extension of G. W. Railway into Penrith.

Supply of Ticket Printing Machine, known as "The Royal Cabinet."

Fencing G. N. Railway Extension from E. Maitland to Morphett.

The railway will be visible seaward from all points of an arc of 193 degrees.

The knoll on which the lighthouses is erected should not be approached within one mile when rounding the light.

Department of Public Works,

Sydney, 14th April, 1862.

TENDERS are invited for the following Public Works and Supplies. For full particulars see Government Gazette, a copy of which is kept at every police office in the colony.

No tender will be taken into consideration unless the name of the work for which it is intended be written on the tender.

E. C. WEEKES.

Nature of Works and Supplies.—Date to which Tenders can be received at this Office.

Supply of Screw Moorings and Buoys for the Harbour of Newcastle.

Bird-nest Additions to Watch-house, Tawonga.

Supplying and Spreading Metal on Great Western Road, between Sydney and Campbelltown.

Supply of Iron Roy Dock Works.—Ives and Brass Castings.

Hardware store.

Oldmen's ditto.

Timber.

Extension of G. N. Railway, from East Maitland to Morphett.

Extension of Passenger Station, at Penrith.

Extension of G. W. Railway into Penrith.

Supply of Ticket Printing Machine, known as "The Royal Cabinet."

Fencing G. N. Railway Extension from E. Maitland to Morphett.

The railway will be visible seaward from all points of an arc of 193 degrees.

The knoll on which the lighthouses is erected should not be approached within one mile when rounding the light.

Department of Public Works,

Sydney, 14th April, 1862.

TENDERS are invited for the following Public Works and Supplies. For full particulars see Government Gazette, a copy of which is kept at every police office in the colony.

No tender will be taken into consideration unless the name of the work for which it is intended be written on the tender.

E. C. WEEKES.

Nature of Works and Supplies.—Date to which Tenders can be received at this Office.

Supply of Screw Moorings and Buoys for the Harbour of Newcastle.

Bird-nest Additions to Watch-house, Tawonga.

Supplying and Spreading Metal on Great Western Road, between Sydney and Campbelltown.

Supply of Iron Roy Dock Works.—Ives and Brass Castings.

Hardware store.

Oldmen's ditto.

Timber.

Extension of G. N. Railway, from East Maitland to Morphett.

Extension of Passenger Station, at Penrith.

Extension of G. W. Railway into Penrith.

Supply of Ticket Printing Machine, known as "The Royal Cabinet."

Fencing G. N. Railway Extension from E. Maitland to Morphett.

The railway will be visible seaward from all points of an arc of 193 degrees.

The knoll on which the lighthouses is erected should not be approached within one mile when rounding the light.

Department of Public Works,

Sydney, 14th April, 1862.

TENDERS are invited for the following Public Works and Supplies. For full particulars see Government Gazette, a copy of which is kept at every police office in the colony.

No tender will be taken into consideration unless the name of the work for which it is intended be written on the tender.

E. C. WEEKES.

Nature of Works and Supplies.—Date to which Tenders can be received at this Office.

Supply of Screw Moorings and Buoys for the Harbour of Newcastle.

Bird-nest Additions to Watch-house, Tawonga.

Supplying and Spreading Metal on Great Western Road, between Sydney and Campbelltown.

Supply of Iron Roy Dock Works.—Ives and Brass Castings.

Hardware store.

Oldmen's ditto.

Timber.

Extension of G. N. Railway, from East Maitland to Morphett.

Extension of Passenger Station, at Penrith.

Extension of G. W. Railway into Penrith.

Supply of Ticket Printing Machine, known as "The Royal Cabinet."

Fencing G. N. Railway Extension from E. Maitland to Morphett.

The railway will be visible seaward from all points of an arc of 193 degrees.

The knoll on which the lighthouses is erected should not be approached within one mile when rounding the light.

Department of Public Works,

Sydney, 14th April, 1862.

TENDERS are invited for the following Public Works and Supplies. For full particulars see Government Gazette, a copy of which is kept at every police office in the colony.

No tender will be taken into consideration unless the name of the work for which it is intended be written on the tender.

E. C. WEEKES.

Nature of Works and Supplies.—Date to which Tenders can be received at this Office.

Supply of Screw Moorings and Buoys for the Harbour of Newcastle.

Bird-nest Additions to Watch-house, Tawonga.

Supplying and Spreading Metal on Great Western Road, between Sydney and Campbelltown.

Supply of Iron Roy Dock Works.—Ives and Brass Castings.

Hardware store.

Oldmen's ditto.

Timber.

Extension of G. N. Railway, from East Maitland to Morphett.

Extension of Passenger Station, at Penrith.

Extension of G. W. Railway into Penrith.

Supply of Ticket Printing Machine, known as "The Royal Cabinet."

Fencing G. N. Railway Extension from E. Maitland to Morphett.

The railway will be visible seaward from all points of an arc of 193 degrees.

The knoll on which the lighthouses is erected should not be approached within one mile when rounding the light.

Department of Public Works,

Sydney, 14th April, 1862.

TENDERS are invited for the following Public Works and Supplies. For full particulars see Government Gazette, a copy of which is kept at every police office in the colony.

No tender will be taken into consideration unless the name of the work for which it is intended be written on the tender.

E. C. WEEKES.

Nature of Works and Supplies.—Date to which Tenders can be received at this Office.

Supply of Screw Moorings and Buoys for the Harbour of Newcastle.

Bird-nest Additions to Watch-house, Tawonga.

Supplying and Spreading Metal on Great Western Road, between Sydney and Campbelltown.

Supply of Iron Roy Dock Works.—Ives and Brass Castings.

Hardware store.

Oldmen's ditto.

Timber.

Extension of G. N. Railway, from East Maitland to Morphett.

Extension of Passenger Station, at Penrith.

Extension of G. W. Railway into Penrith.

Supply of Ticket Printing Machine, known as "The Royal Cabinet."

Fencing G. N. Railway Extension from E. Maitland to Morphett.

The railway will be visible seaward from all points of an arc of 193 degrees.

The knoll on which the lighthouses is erected should not be approached within one mile when rounding the light.

Department of Public Works,

Sydney, 14th April, 1862.

TENDERS are invited for the following Public Works and Supplies. For full particulars see Government Gazette, a copy of which is kept at every police office in the colony.

No tender will be taken into consideration unless the name of the work for which it is intended be written on the tender.

E. C. WEEKES.

Nature of Works and Supplies.—Date to which Tenders can be received at this Office.

SALES BY AUCTION.

Pine Adelaide Flute.
To Miller, Baker, and others.

JOHN G. COHEN will sell, at the Bank Auction Rooms, THIS DAY, 17th April, 1862, at 11 o'clock precisely, 10 tons fine Adelade flour.
Terms at sale.

Galvanised Ware.

To Ironmongers and others.

JOHN G. COHEN will sell, at the Bank Auction Rooms, THIS DAY, April 17, 1862, at 11 o'clock precisely, on account and risk of the former purchaser, 75 bundles galvanised wire.
Terms at sale.

THURSDAY, 17th April.

Chocolate.

To Grocers and others.

JOHN G. COHEN will sell, at the Bank Auction Rooms, THIS DAY, April 17, 1862, at 11 o'clock precisely, 5 cwt each of wire.
Diamond 1-lb. packages fancy paste.
Sulphur coke, Pearl No. 26 chocolate, &c., &c.

Terms at sale.

TO MECHANICS AND SMALL CAPITALISTS.

WITHOUT ANY RESERVE.

AUSTRALIA-STREET, KINGSTON.
Next Bridge-toll Cottage and block of land, immediately opposite Mr. FOWLER'S POTTERY, in Australia-street, Kingstone, will be sold, together with the FURNITURE, &c., on the premises, on SATURDAY NEXT, 10th APRIL, On the property, at half-past 2 o'clock.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions from Mr. J. MILLARD to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, on TUESDAY, 17th April, at 11 o'clock. That well-known elegantly-furnished family residence, BON ACCORD VILLA AND GROUNDS, Waverley Heights.

A beautifully situated SUBURBAN FAMILY RESIDENCE, with extensive HIGHLY-IMPROVED GROUNDS, fronting the South Head Road, at Waverley, near Waverley House.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions from Mr. JOHN FORRESTER, to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, on TUESDAY, 17th April, at 11 o'clock.

That well-known elegantly-furnished family residence, BON ACCORD VILLA, situated on the South Head Road, containing on the ground floor, spacious verandahs, drawing-room, dining-room, and kitchen, divided by folding-doors and three bedrooms; on the upper floor two good bedrooms. Detached from the house, and approached by a flagged paved and covered way, is the kitchen-garden, containing a large room, coal and wood house; another detached building contains three rooms and cow-house; a stone-built coach-house and two-stall stable, a large five-horse and yard, a small cultivation and grass paddock, &c., &c. The water is supplied by three wells of capital water on the property.

BON ACCORD VILLA is built of weatherboards on stone foundations, lined throughout, papered, varnished and fitted with cupboards, pantries, and every domestic convenience.

"THE GROUNDS, which are extensive, and have a large frontage to the main South Head Road, are laid out with taste, and planted with choice shrubs and evergreens.

The view from the house and grounds is unequalled. It embraces the Harbour, Darling Point, Double Bay, and the surrounding picturesqueness, and the position combines all the advantages of being in a healthy locality and yet justly situated.

The house is in first-rate order, strongly built, and fitted with every convenience and comfort for a family residence, and a very large sum has been expended on the grounds to make them a picture of perfection.

Parties in search of a superior residence are invited to inspect Bon Accord Villa and Grounds, prior to the sale, and every facility for doing so will be afforded by the proprietor.

The furniture can be taken at a valuation, if desired.

PERPETUITY SALE.

By ORDER of the MORTGAGERS.

PRELIMINARY NOTICE.

FIRST CLASS FAMILY MANSION now occupied by J. S. LEATHER, Esq., known as Mr. HIBBLEWHITE's celebrated estate.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions from the MORTGAGERS, to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, on MONDAY, 23rd April, at 11 o'clock.

That well-known valuable stone-built FAMILY MANSION, situated in the heart of the suburb, RANWICK, consisting of a large two-story block, an extensive court yard and range of out-buildings, built of stone, comprising laundry, coach house, stable, cow-sheds, &c.

The GROUNDS contain an area of upwards of one acre fronting two main roads, and are laid out in great taste in ornamental shrubbery, gardens, &c., &c. The house is approached by a carriage drive through massive iron gates on stone columns.

In the preliminary notice of this sale, it is only necessary to state that the above is acknowledged to be the choicer and most valuable property in this famous suburb, commanding extensive and most picturesque views.

The mansion and offices are highly finished, and have only recently been completed at an enormous cost.

Full particulars in a future advertisement.

Steels' Liverpool Soap.

For positive unreserved Sales, to close accounts prior to the departure of the Mail.

THURSDAY, 17th April.

To Grocers, Stockkeepers, Shippers, and others.

E. THRELKELD and CO. will sell by auction, at the City Mart, THIS DAY, at 11.

First lot to be offered,

650 boxes Steels' Liverpool soap, each 56 lbs., in lots to suit purchasers.

Terms at sale.

Soda Ash.

To Soap-makers and others.

THURSDAY, 17th April.

Second lot to be offered.

M. R. MURIEL will sell, at the City Mart, THIS DAY, at 11.

Second lot.

10 tons Muspratt's sofa Ash, 54 lbs. per cent.

Terms at sale.

Boots and Shoes.

THURSDAY, 17th April.

THIRD LOT TO BE OFFERED.

M. R. MURIEL will sell, at the City Mart, THIS DAY, at 11.

Second lot to be offered.

E. THRELKELD and CO. will sell by auction, at the City Mart, THIS DAY, at a quarter past 11.

Without reserve.

Balance of effects on Cambodia and Damascan, &c.

Cambodia
Damascan
Highflyer.

Positive Unreserved Sale.

E. THRELKELD and CO. have been instructed by the importers to sell by auction, at the City Mart, THIS DAY, at a quarter past 11.

An English-built Oak Phaeton.

To Private Families and others.

THURSDAY, 17th April.

THIRD LOT TO BE OFFERED.

E. THRELKELD and CO. will sell by auction, at the City Mart, THIS DAY, at a quarter past 11.

Without reserve.

60 packages new and reasonable books and shoes, the balance of old books on Cambodia and Damascan, &c.

Ditto grain roofs, clasp rivets

Ditto metal and patent, H.S., T.P.H.

Ditto metal bellows.

Ditto cloth patterned goloshes

Ditto brown cashmere lace

Children's leather stockings, H.S., M.H.

Ditto metal bellows.

Ditto cordovan ditto

Ditto brown cashmere lace

Ditto kid patent ditto

Ditto leather patterned goloshes

Ditto leather patterned ditto

